

LICENSING CHECKLIST

- Make sure that your license number is on all items that could be considered advertising.
 - Advertising includes but is not limited to: your business card, contract proposals, lettering on your vehicles, any electronic transmission, or any clothing or giveaway item with your company's name or logo.
- Make sure that you have renewed your contractor's license.
 - If you do not have an active license you may not be able to recover for the work performed, including work performed before your license was inactive and after it was re-activated.
- Check that you are properly licensed for all work that you perform.
 - Even if you are licensed under one specialty, you may not be able to recover payments if you performed construction requiring a different license.
- Check that your contractor's license bond is current.
- Check that your worker's compensation is current.
- If you have any questions or concerns about your contractor's license or its requirements you may visit www.cslb.ca.gov or contact the HARTNETT LAW GROUP.
